National Niemann-Pick Disease Foundation for Type C Research in honor of Dillon Papier

Dillon Papier is a local Frederick, Maryland 7 year-old boy who has who has a dazzling smile, fun-loving personality, and spreads joy to everyone he meets. Sadly, Dillon has been diagnosed with Niemann-Pick Type C Disease (NPC), a rare devastating and always fatal disease that affects only 500 people worldwide. Without a treatment, within 5- 10 years, Dillon will lose his extraordinary zest for life, his ability to walk, talk, eat (eventually requiring a feeding tube), recognize his parents, and finally the disease will rob him of his most precious gift – life.

THANK YOU for making a difference, and providing the greatest gift of all “The Gift of Hope” that one day Dillon and all the children with NPC will have more than their childhood to live a lifetime.....
